Editor's Note

Salvete omnes! It's me again! This is the last issue of "Toga Talk" for the school year, can you believe it? Thank you for all of those who took an issue back home/school with them. It means a lot to me! Even those who are reading this online, thank you.

As I reflect on my time as your 1st Vice President, I feel very proud of the things I have done, but I know there is room for improvements. I've had such a pleasure creating this newsletter for you each season, even when, along the way, there were many frustrations and moments of doubt. I could not have made it through the school year or my term as 1st Vice President without Magistra Palumbo or any of my board members. Although it may not seem like it, they are one of the reasons why this newsletter is as good as it is -- they take the photos, inform me about certain events, and encourage and support me. I will genuinely miss this board. Maximas gratias!

As the end of the school year gets closer, I encourage you all to not fall behind and to stay just as motivated as you were at the beginning of the school year! Once again, thank you. It's been an honor to be your 1st Vice President.

- Catherine

Revolt in the Senate

Pictured: A group figuring out how to escape the room by collaborating, using reasoning, thinking outside-of-the-box. March 2nd, 2018

Someone is planning to overthrow the Senate and it's up to you to figure out who it is. Be sure not to get caught in the process! On March 2nd, the pre-convention fun activity took place on Gilbert Classical Academy's campus (the same place where the State Convention will take place). Students were divided and put into groups of varying ages, grade, and schools, and had to work together in order to get out of the room. The puzzles forced students to think outside-of-the-box with few hints. The goal at the end of the night was not only to escape the room and have the best score (lowest score wins), but to get acquainted with other students from different areas of Arizona, and even Nevada! Both Pre-Convention and State Convention brings hundreds of like-minded students who are interested in Classics together to compete and strive to do their best.

After each group escaped their room, pizza and drinks were served. Then, the students went home to prepare for the big day tomorrow.

State Convention

Eugepae to the following students! These are all of the students who have placed!
N.B. This is before any changes were made, so there may be some mistakes. Corrections were made at the convention, but was not edited into the result document. All students should have the correct awards at this time. If you do not, please contact us, so we can fix that.
